Custom or user defined exceptions

Points to remember

- We mention super() in customized exception class to make description available to default exception handler
- It is highly recommended to define custom exceptions as unchecked ie. We have to extend RuntimeException but not Exception.
- Throw keyword is best suitable for user defined or customized exceptions but not for predefined exceptions